VOLUME XXI—NO. 64.

CHARLEROI, WASHINGTON COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA. THURSDAY, AUGUST 19, 1920.

TWO CENTS

LOCAL ASSESSORS ARE READY TO ENROLL ALL WOMEN VOTERS

Are Awaiting Word From County Commissioners Before Taking Up Work

MUST COMPLETE TASK QUICKLY

Enrollment of the women voters of Charleroi will not be undertaken by the various local assessors until they receive word from the county commissioners to proceed with the work. The Charleroi assessors, as well as all others of the county, were notified some time ago by the county commissioners, to be prepared to undertake this work, provided the nineteenth amendment should be adopted.

The commissioners are waiting to hear from Harrisburg, and if the opinion of the state authorities is favorable, it is likely that steps will be immediately taken by the county officials to begin the task. It will be a big undertaking, and if it is to be accomplished within the time required by the election laws of the state, will require harmonious co-operation on the part of the women of the borough and the assessors.

As it will be the first vote the women have been privileged to cast it is likely that no tax requirement will be necessary, but this feature will no doubt receive a definite statement from the county commissioners, who will issue the necessary orders for enrollment, once they receive a favorable opinion from the attorney general of the state.

This increased registration will add largely to the vote of Charleroi, and will likely equal, if not exceed, the male vote, if all of the women register. However, statistics show that many men do not vote, and it is likely that the same feature will apply to women. It is known that many women were opposed to the amendment, while others, like many men, will be indifferent to the privileges and responsibilities given to them.

Another feature of the case is the large increase in the taxable list of the borough. It may not figure very largely in each succeeding year it will be an important factor in the financial affairs of the town and the county. Every woman will be registered and an assessment placed against her, the same as now prevails against the male voter, and she will be expected to pay. It will not change the status of women property owners, many of whom have paid taxes for years, in the way of assessments, but along with their sisters they will have the voting privilege, as well as the responsibilities of full citizenship conferred upon them.

The entertainment committee of the Charleroi Lodge of Elks have announced another dance, to be given at the club rooms, Friday evening, the 20th. These occasions are proving very delightful to many of the Elks and their friends, and have been very liberally patronized.

Ten to one the events that worry or affright us most are those that never come off.

LOSTRAVER HARVEST HOME ON SATURDAY

Announcement is made that the annual "Harvest Home" of Rostraver township will be held at McClain's grove on Saturday. It is promised that the Buttermore band, as well as Mr. Crawford, the well known singer, will be on hand on Saturday with all the latest songs. The occasion promises to be very delightful, if the weather is favorable.

BIG PLATE BROKEN BUT BOY ESCAPES

Some malign influence must hang over the big show window in the McCarty 5 and 10c store on Fifth street, which was smashed to pieces a few weeks ago when a weighing machine was tipped over and fell through it, resulting in injuries to Myron Jobs, which caused his death a few hours later. This morning workmen from the plate glass plant were replacing the big window, it having been decided to use two large sheets instead of one as formerly.

One of the big plates had been placed in position, and the workmen had the other on the sidewalk, turning it around in order to place it in its position in the frame near the door, when Edward Calistri, who had been in the store, walked out. He bumped squarely into the big plate, his forehead breaking it in two, the top part of the plate sliding down over his body without doing him any injury, and crashing to pieces on the pavement. The lower portion likewise fell when the top part was broken, and the entire plate, which measured 62 1/2 x 98 1/2 inches was soon nothing but a pile of "cullet." The boy was in his barefeet, but strange to say was not scratched by the breaking glass.

FARMERS INVITED TO ATTEND DINNER

The executive committee in charge of the local agricultural and fashion show, to be held in Turner Hall, September 9 and 10, have invited a number of farmers from the surrounding townships, to attend a dinner to be given at the Elks Club, Friday evening, at 6 o'clock, at which time an address will be made by County Agriculturist J. M. McKee, of Washington. The idea of the meeting is to interest the farmers in the agricultural side of the show and to make exhibits of their products. It is expected that quite a number will accept the invitations and attend the dinner.

Hoarding sugar is as risky as bootlegging, if not more so. A New York grocer who hid away 200,000 pounds gets two years in Leavenworth penitentiary.

Fear Time Is Too Short To Register Women Voters

It is believed in some quarters that there is scarcely time enough in which to have registry assessors visit all the homes in each voting district and prepare a list of the women voters prior to August 31, on which date the officers must be at the polling places. There are left but ten working days in which to make these visits. The average time occupied in registering the male voters is from 15 to 18 days, and it would require fully as long a time to properly register and assess the women. It is possible that the house-to-house canvass of the registry assessors may be dispensed with, and the women requested to present themselves at the polling place of their districts on August 31 and September 1 where the assessors will be in attendance, and then and there have their names placed in registry books that will be provided.

DEMOCRATS NAME THEIR COMMITTEEMEN

Clyde W. Hufford, chairman of the Democratic county committee, has announced his appointments of committeemen and officers for the present campaign in this county. The following are the secretaries:

L. Hetherington, Bendleyville; A. P. Barnum, Allenport; James P. Braden, Washington; and S. V. Kimberland, Burgettstown.

OPINIONS DIFFER AS TO STATUS OF WOMEN CITIZENS

BELIEVE MEN HELD ALL BANK ROBBERIES

Pittsburgh detectives are of the opinion that all of the four men under arrest at Jackson, Mich. arrested for complicity in a bank robbery at that place, were connected with the robberies of the banks at Hays borough and in Finleyville. What steps will be taken to bring them back to Pennsylvania will likely be a matter for future consideration, awaiting the outcome of their trial in Michigan.

HIGHLY PLEASED WITH FIRST TRIP

The Pittsburgh, Morgantown and Fairmont packet Leroy, which entered the trade on the Monongahela river last Saturday, returned on Tuesday from headwaters. He officers report the prospects very encouraging all along the line.

During the stops at Morgantown and Fairmont the business men and shippers of both places held a conference on board the boat with the owners, and expressed themselves very much in favor of the venture, and gave assurance that their freight shipments would be made by river. Wholesale fruit dealers in both towns are reported to have agreed to cancel all shipments by rail, if they were assured regular packet service. Owners of the Leroy said that the boat would make regular trips and according to schedule as already announced.

The managers reported, on the return trip, that they had assurances of a very large shipment of freight and general merchandise for the next trip from Pittsburgh, and that prospects were already so encouraging that negotiations were already under way for the purchase of another boat similar to the Leroy, which would then permit daily departures from both ends of the line.

For the present trips of the Leroy will be made in daylight, with a single crew in charge. This will be done for a time for advertising purposes.

ELUDED OFFICERS, BUT IS FINALLY CAPTURED

Eluding officers for several weeks, Nelson Clauser, of Fredericktown, was placed under arrest on Wednesday to answer to a series of charges preferred against him by Sebastian Miller of that place. In default of bail he was committed to jail to await a hearing before a Washington justice of the peace.

Clauser is charged with robbery, larceny, and surety of the peace. He is accused by Miller of breaking into his home. Clauser is also declared to have threatened to burn the residence. The accusations were made some time ago, but Clauser went into hiding and was not located until Wednesday.

Waiting on Opinion of Attorney General Before Taking Action

HE IS BELIEVED FAVORABLE

There is some difference of opinion among legal authorities as to the status of women citizens in Pennsylvania, now that the suffrage amendment has been ratified. Some hold that women in this state can now vote, notwithstanding an apparent prohibition in the state constitution, while others contend that this will prevent the women from exercising the right of franchise at the November election.

The matter has been under consideration for some time by Attorney General William I. Schaffer, and telegrams from Harrisburg indicate that he is expected to give an opinion on the subject, now that the thirty-sixth state to ratify the amendment has been secured. The matter is understood, was threshed out by the attorney general and his deputies before he left Harrisburg for his vacation, and the belief prevailing at the state capital is that no additional legislation is required in this state to enfranchise its women citizens.

Grounds for this belief is based on a statement made recently by Mr. Schaffer, in which he said: "It seems to me that it would be the part of wisdom for county commissioners to have prepared the necessary registration books to enable them to meet promptly the situation which will be on our hands in Pennsylvania, if ratification shall take place."

The Washington county commissioners have let it be known that in the event of favorable decision by the attorney general they will be ready to put into operation at once the proper legal machinery to assure every woman who wishes to enroll and register for the purpose of casting a ballot at the November election an opportunity to do so. The law requires that voters be assessed 60 days before election and that taxes be paid, thirty days prior to election. The number of registered men voters in the county is 38,021, and it is estimated that there will be fully as many women voters to register. However, rarely more than 40 per cent of the registered voters cast their ballots, and it may be that about that percentage of the women will register.

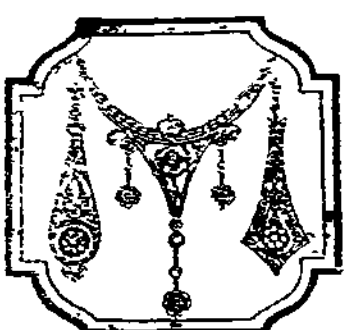

At the office of the county commissioners Wednesday afternoon it was stated that the ratification of the 19th amendment by the Tennessee legislature would not put in operation the plans made for registration and assessment of women voters in Washington county until definite instructions were received from the state authorities.

There will be a meeting of the local Democrats at the Woodward Piano store, Friday evening, August 20, to make arrangements to attend Cox meeting in Pittsburgh, Friday, August 27. All interested are invited. Committee 63-t2p-

WONT STAND FOR IT

The public is in a mood to stand for profiteering at the hands of manufacturers, merchants or others on the score of increased freight rates. Knowing that the rate in rates was inevitable if the railroads were to continue to operate, the people of the country very gladly assume their share of the burden, but they will resent in forceful terms any effort to take unfair advantage of the freight advance. One writer in speaking of the advance says it means thirty per cent additional to be added to the cost of living, all of which is nonsense.

Freight charges form only a small fraction charge of any article to the consumer. To think of adding thirty per cent to the price of a suit of clothes or a barrel of flour by reason of the increase in freight charges would be absurd.

The trend of prices is downward, and while the people must pay the bill and a half additional that will go into freight and passenger rates, the betterment thereby will be such as to speed up industry and help along the movement toward lower levels. The people must pay, unquestionably, but the burden will not be so much in the way of advanced costs as in failure to realize as low prices as would have been possible had not the roads been forced to seek higher traffic rates.

Certain lines of industry will feel the burden keenly and higher prices will of necessity result, but there can be no excuse for profiteering at the expense of the public under the excuse of added transportation costs. The railroads, the Government and the public should watch for signs of this and make measures to stop it as soon as it appears, for all will be hurt if it is permitted to prevail.

Announcement comes from Cincinnati that for the first time in a quarter of a century a steamboat will make a through trip from that city to New Orleans, a distance of 1,500 miles. She will carry freight and passengers both ways and the initial trip is to be made in September. It is expected to keep the boat in this trade, as the promoters believe that the present is a propitious time in which to inaugurate packet service on western waters.

Inability of the railroads to deliver freight in anything like reasonable time, as well as the heavy demand made upon railroads for transportation has resulted in a congested condition which it is believed the steamboats will be able to relieve. At the present time nine steam packets are operating out of the Pittsburgh harbor, a condition that has not existed in years, and all of them appear to be doing an excellent business. The waterways of the country may furnish the solution to present-day freight conditions in giving an outlet whereby freight congestion would be made impossible.

Another feature of this effort on the part of the promoters to establish this packet service would be the sentimental feature, in that it would revive memories of the days when the floating palaces of western waters were only means of communication between long distances in the Mississippi and Ohio valleys.

RUSSIAN PLUMB PLAN

The Plumb Plan proposes government ownership of the railroads with management and operation by the employees. That is practically what they have in Russia, under bolshevism, which is ruled by the proletariat. Reports from Russia contain the information that "an enormous staff of employees (about six thousand), for the most part loafing about, doing nothing" is employed, and "it was estimated that 125 employees were actually not serving at all but receiving a salary the same as the others." The working capacity of the employees is ridiculously low; the average correspondence per typist was one letter outward and one inward per day. That is radically different from the high standard attained in America under the policy of private ownership, any man in the service, from section hand up, had a chance to work to the highest position, and every man took pride in the excellent service of the road by which he was employed. That spirit de corps suffered some check during government operation, but it is being rapidly restored.

It is not the least of the railroads' troubles that the revenue of the United States will have been $1,000,000,000 less of what they are to have, declared Representative William D. Andrews, of Nebraska, in a speech recently on the results of the tariff reduction. The $1,000,000,000 did not come and as a result Congress was called upon for some more legislation and enacted war taxes in times of peace.

Of course there is nothing to prevent the benevolent people who want the United States to enter into an arrangement that will compel this country to send other Americans' boys to European battlefields every time a scrap breaks out over there—nothing to prevent them from going over themselves for the general good of mankind they say they are so much worried about. Being "unselfish" at other people's expense, you know, isn't as altruistic as it pretends to be.

It is indeed appropriate that the head of the Democratic national committee's bureau to educate through oratory the people of the United States on the virtues of "democracy," is Senator Pat Harrison, hailing from a state where, the official returns show, one person in every thirty votes against an average of one in five in the Republican states of the union.

You'll have to hand it to a Democratic politician who has the nerve to get up this year and talk about what the Democratic party is going to do for the people when everybody holds in fresh remembrance just what it has been doing to the people for the past three hundred and eighty-seven weeks.

It is suggested that Cummings was succeeded by White as Democratic national chairman because the first named was too big a man for the job.

DUENBERGS WILL ENTER BIG RACE

Entries for the Autumn Classic at the Unknown Speedway are coming in. It was stated at the Speedway office Monday that the famous Duenberg team, which carried off the honors at the Universal Trophy race in June, would be in the contest later this fall and it is expected that Duenberg, the famous Italian driver of the Buick car, will be entered in the race.

Although Duenberg's entry has not been received, the famous Italian declared after the race last June that he intended to come back to Uniontown until he had won a victory on that oval. His Buick car developed wonderful bursts of speed during its participation in the Universal Trophy race, and Duenberg is supremely confident that his car can win, hence the late entry.

While no names were given out it was stated at the Speedway office that it is quite likely a number of new faces will be seen when the field gets away at the starter's signal Labor Day afternoon.

Resurfacing of the track is progressing rapidly and improvements will be completed well in advance of the race date.

MANY AKRON MEN COMING TO DONORA

With the shutdown of the big rubber factories at Akron, Ohio, the thousands of young men thrown out of work there are seeking employment in other fields. Hundreds of these young men are taking up work in the steel mills, and Donora is attracting its share of this idle labor. The good wages and fine jobs at the down river plant being very attractive.

One party of one hundred and fifty men arrived in Donora on Monday evening, and applied at the mill employment office the next morning, and it is said were taken on at the steel works.

Employers of labor throughout the city state that there is much more labor these days, and that the number of men hiring and leaving each day is greater at the present time than since the days of 1914. There is no scarcity of labor at the Donora mills, and there are always plenty of applicants for any jobs that might become vacant.

MONONGAHELA DIFFERS FROM OTHER DISTRICTS

In Monongahela, where there is personal registration, women who wish to vote at the coming election, if the way is found open for them to do so must appear personally before the registrars in the various election districts, and there be registered. However, in the future, before being able to register they will be required to be assessed and to have paid their county tax, the receipt of which they must show to the registrars before they can be registered. This being done, they must, under oath, answer a number of questions, all of which will be recorded by the assessors. Among these questions are: name, occupation, address, lodger, lessee or owner of a house, length of residence in state and election district; state or territory in the United States or foreign country in which applicant was born; if foreign born, the production of proof of naturalization; production of tax receipt; personal description to show whether applicant is white or colored, and the approximate age, height and weight; party affiliation and the signature of the applicant. Women 21 years of age may vote the first time on age, without a tax receipt.

GIVEN SIX MONTHS TO THE COUNTY JAIL

Marshall Abbott, of Monongahela, who figured in a sensational box car duel at Leith, Fayette county, last spring, with Johnson, the world war hero, was sentenced by the Fayette county court on Wednesday to serve six months in the county jail on two separate charges and pay the costs. Abbott was shot in the side at the time, but the following day was committed to jail, where he has been since last April, and where he is now serving as inside turnkey.

"Mapping" the Air.

The greatest discovery yet made in exploring the air is that the atmosphere consists of two layers, the lower extending from sea level up to 10,000 meters, in which there is a steady fall of temperature with elevation. This is called the troposphere. Above this there is no fall, and up to 20,000 meters a slight rise. The upper layer is known as the stratosphere. It is actually possible today for an airplane to rise from the ground to the bottom of the stratosphere, say about six miles, in one hour. If we want to explore somewhat higher, say 20 miles, we install light instruments on a sounding balloon.

A Washington newspaper correspondent tells of a Mrs. Malaprop who once amused the capital with her mistakes. She went around asking people to sign a "red robin" (meaning a round robin); spoke of her trip through the "Valley of Gethsemane" when she meant the Yosemite; and said, "I've been in the mountains, and, do you know, I jumped from rock to rock just like a shemrock."—From the Outlook.

The source of practically all the icebergs of the arctic and sub-arctic regions is Greenland. Owing to the northward set of the West Greenland current the bergs of this side are carried first to the north and it is only at about the seventy-fourth or seventy-fifth parallel of latitude that they begin to make their way westward to come down on the American side.

REMARKABLE RECOVERY

Extraordinary Curative
Power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Philadelphia, Pa.—I want to let you know what good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me. I had organic troubles and am going through the Change of Life. I was taken with a pain in my side and a bad headache. I could not lie down, could not eat or sleep. I suffered something terrible and the doctor's medicine did me no good at all—my pains got worse instead of better. I began taking the Vegetable Compound and felt a change from the first. Now I feel fine and advise any one going through the Change of Life to try it, for it cured me after I had given up all hopes of getting better. You can publish this and I will tell any one who writes to me the good it has done me. Mrs. MARGARET DASH, 1525 N. Alder St., Phila., Pa.

It hardly seems possible that there is a woman in this country who will continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial after all the evidence that is continually being published, proving beyond contradiction that this grand old medicine has relieved more suffering among women than any other medicine in the world.

CONCORD INSTITUTE READY FOR PUPILS

The Institute of Practical Arts for Immigrants and their children, located at Old Concord, Washington county under the management of Dr. Jos. W. Dunbar, will be ready to open on the 6th of October. The school will be prepared to welcome boys and girls from foreign families, and as many pupils of the high school age as may elect to attend.

This school was made possible through the generosity of Miss Jennie B. Rogers, her sister, Miss Elizabeth Rogers, and a brother, Milton B. Rogers, who, actuated by philanthropic motives, turned over to the foundation their fine estate, consisting of 570 fertile acres, 300 acres of which is underlaid with Pittsburgh coal. This location is peculiarly favorable for the work among the foreign people, because of it being in the heart of the great Pittsburgh coal region.

Dr. Dunbar, who took charge of the institution on the first of June, was born on a farm near Crosscreek village, was graduated from Washington and Jefferson college and the Western Theological seminary. He has had a successful career as a minister, educator and practical man of affairs. Through his recent connection as head of the Ingleside Seminary, at Burkeville, Va., he has become familiar with the educational problems and needs of the day.

An able staff of instructors has been elected for the ensuing year. This faculty is composed of college graduates who have had a varied experience in the departments in which they render their respective services.

The boys will be trained in trades and manual arts. The large farm which is the property of the school will be used to teach practical farming. At all times the training will be well rounded. Proper emphasis will be placed on clean living, proper care of health, and the value of citizenship.

The girls will be taught domestic science, home-making and all those things which have to do with the practical art of living. Those who desire business courses or college preparatory work, whether they are boys or girls, will be able to secure the proper training. It is well recognized that these young people have the same inherent right to the best things of life as do those whose ancestors came to this country long years ago.

The expense of the student will not be heavy. Board and tuition may be secured for $200. There will be opportunities for pupils to earn part of their expenses at least, so that none need be kept from entering for lack of money.

Dick F. Mezzitiero, a junior at the colleges of Wooster, has been acting as field secretary during the summer. The local Y. M. C. A. has been his headquarters. His work has carried him into all parts of Washington county, and into West Virginia, and some of the towns along the Ohio river. At present the outlook for students is very promising, quite a number having decided to take advantage of this opportunity.

One of the pleasing features of the school is the fact that it is located in the heart of a fine rural community in a district where American farm and home life may be seen at their best. For the scholar who selects farming as his line of work there is practical training under the best of conditions. Plans for the future involve the building of an administration building, a boys' dormitory, a girls' dormitory, science hall, agricultural hall, light and power plant and various shop buildings. It is planned to make this school do for the foreigner what Hampton and Tuskegee have done for the negro or what Berea and others have done for the mountaineer. The aim is not alone to have a large physical equipment but rather to have all the facilities to give all these boys and girls a first class American chance—and to promote honorable industry and worthy ideals.

The executive committee of the institution consists of C. H. Andrew of Old Concord, Rev. C. L. McKee of Washington, Dr. U. W. MacMillan of Clenshaw and Prof. O. F. H. Bert of Washington. Dr. Albert Mamatey, president of the National Slovak society, is a member of the board of trustees, as is also Henry W. Temple, congressman from this local district. Among the trustees and advisors are a number of men prominent in business and educational life in many parts of the country.

METHODIST BISHOP NOW IN PITTSBURGH

The Rt. Rev. Francis J. McConnell, D. D., recently appointed Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church, arrived in Pittsburgh from Denver on Tuesday to make his home there. He at once discovered the existence of a housing problem, and during the first few days of his stay he will make a little time off from his episcopal duties to hunt for a place to live. His family is still in Denver. His headquarters will likely be at the Methodist Publication building. There has been no bishop in Pittsburgh since the death over two years ago of Bishop Franklin Hamilton.

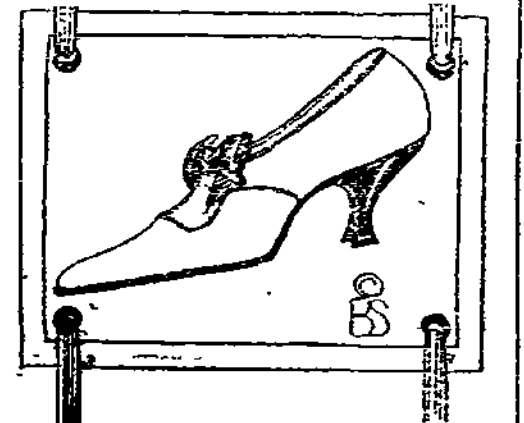

Unofficial returns from the Ohio primary indicate that more than twice as many Republican votes were polled as Democrats. You can make your own comment.

PAY CONFERENCE WAS A FAILURE

The conference between the operators and miners, which was in session for five days at Cleveland, Ohio, adjourned Wednesday evening without being able to reach an agreement. Opinions differ as to what will follow the failure of the conference to reach an agreement, some being of the opinion that no strikes will take place, while others believe that at least in some localities operations will cease. The operators in a telegram to President Wilson request him to create a commission such as was recommended by the bituminous coal commission to determine controversies between miners and operators, and that the mines be kept at work pending a decision by this commission. The operators voted in favor of the motions, while the miners voted against it.

After reading the letters of Colonel House from Paris, President Wilson can appreciate how a man feels when a House falls on him.

HEALTH SCHOOL

Pennsylvania State Department of Health.

Questions.

1. How may hands convey disease?
2. Why should people wash their hands before meals?
3. What possible danger is there in the practice of picking at the lips or fingering the mouth?

HANDS

A pale, thin man entered the office, coughed, expectorated into his handkerchief which he crumpled together and returned to his pocket, and sank wearily into a chair.

Dr. Porter, who was giving a health lesson to a class of Little Mothers, said: "Now I can show you what we have been talking about. This man, a patient of mine, has tuberculosis."

"Let me see your hand." The patient's thin and wasted hand was quite clean.

"This hand looks as clean as your own. But is it really? It has just handled a handkerchief into which he has been coughing and spitting."

Under direction, the patient soaked and rubbed his hand in a small bowl of water. This water the doctor put into a glass vessel which, in turn, he placed in a "whirling" machine. In a few moments the sediment in the water was visible in the bottom of the container. A drop of this sediment was drawn into a fine tube and placed carefully upon a glass microscope slide. The slide was passed through a gas flame until it was dry. "This is to drive off the water; and look at the result."

He dipped the slide into some colored mixtures, explaining that germs of tuberculosis would absorb the stain and appear bright red under the microscope. Then one moved nearer as the doctor placed the slide under the microscope and began moving it slowly back and forth as he looked through the eye piece.

"Good luck!" he exclaimed. "you can't always find them, but here they are."

After the class had examined them, the doctor told them that the germs they had just seen caused tuberculosis, and were always present when the disease existed, were coughed up and spit out by the billions by one in the active stages of the disease, and came only from a person or an animal who had the disease.

"Now," said the doctor, "suppose the patient buys a box of matches which he pays for with a nickel, just after having coughed into his hand. The nickel, moist from his germ-laden hand, has scarcely settled in the cash register when a child comes into the store, buys a box of tacks, carries home—in one hand her purchase, the other tightly clutching the nickel which was her change, and sits down to supper without washing her hands—what of it?"

"She would be in danger of getting the germs into her mouth," answered the girls in unison.

"In the meantime, the tuberculous man walks down the street, sees a movie sign, goes in and settles himself comfortably with his hands on the arm rest of the chair. What is the result?" asked Dr. Porter.

"He leaves germs which other persons may pick up," replied one of the girls.

"Going home from the movie on a crowded car, the patient hangs by a strap—what happens?"

"He leaves the germs upon the strap," said a Little Mother.

The patient interrupted: "Doctor, how can I keep from passing my disease to others?"

"By using paper napkins into which you cough and spit—a fresh one each time; by spitting in a paper cup; by burning these napkins and cups after they have been used; by having your own dishes and table utensils, which are boiled after being used; by sleeping in a room or porch by yourself; by repeatedly and thoroughly washing your hands."

"Can other diseases be carried by the hands?" asked one of the class.

"Yes, common colds, typhoid fever, and diphtheria are frequently so carried; also probably scarlet fever, measles, and many other diseases."

"It is a good rule to wash your hands frequently—always before eating anything which you handle, and to keep your hands and fingers away from your mouth."

"Disease germs are not on all hands; they are on some—nearly always on the hands of those who have the disease; often on those of the ones who have been in close contact with the disease."

Few Bricks Came From England.

The late George Alfred Townsend, an Englishman, had beyond controversy that, while there may have been a few isolated instances of cargoes of bricks from England, not one colonial house in fifty, for which such claim is made, included English bricks in its composition.—From a letter in the Baltimore Sun.

HEALTH SCHOOL

Pennsylvania State Department of Health.

Questions.

1. How can decay in teeth be prevented?
2. What diseases may be caused by decayed teeth?
3. What action should School Boards take?

TEETH

"The Walrus and the Carpenter Were walking close at hand; They kept like anything to see Such quantities of sand; 'If this were only cleared away,' They said, 'it would be grand.'"

"If seven mounds with seven mops Swept it for half a year, Do you suppose," the Walrus said, "That they could get it clear? 'I doubt it,' said the Carpenter, And shed a bitter tear."

It was this fragment of Carroll's poem that Dr. Black quoted to Mrs. Walter, the Chairman of the County Health Committee, when she said that because of the rotten teeth of the children of today, the men and women of tomorrow would be a set of invalids, dyspeptics, and rheumatics; and proposed that the dentists should so work with the school authorities that every child in every school of the county should have his teeth put in perfect order and kept so.

The doctor continued thus: "In one county of Pennsylvania there are about 450 school houses and 27,000 children; those 27,000 children have at least 100,000 rotting teeth. There are in this county fifteen competent dentists. Allowing one hour for each child, it would take those fifteen dentists, working eight hours a day, two hundred and twenty-five days to give a first treatment to each of these children."

"But that is a gross exaggeration, their teeth cannot be in that dreadful condition."

"It is no exaggeration, but under states the facts."

"A survey of 150 children in two cities, showed $25 cavities; an average of 5.20 cavities a month; this fairly represents the State at large."

"Then there is no hope of doing anything except for the people who can afford to pay for a dentist?"

"On the contrary," replied the Doctor, "there is not only hope, but a determination to do much."

"But how can that be?"

"By preventing the rotting of teeth."

"But it is natural for teeth to decay; I have seen it in little babies."

"Teeth decay only and solely because the mouth is filthy. In this mouth filth grow the germs which eat away the enamel."

"Do you mean that there wouldn't be any toothaches, any abscesses, any fillings to be done, if the teeth were kept clean?"

"Yes."

"Do bad teeth cause disease?"

"Yes, children with rotten teeth catch diseases, are sickly, have sore throats, sore gums, bad stomachs. Bad teeth are the starting points of rheumatism, heart disease, and many crippling forms of sickness."

"How can you get rid of what you call mouth filth?"

"By washing and brushing the teeth every time food is taken into the mouth, using plenty of water and removing all of those fragments of food which remain between the teeth and on the irregular grinding surfaces. These fragments of food in the warm, moist atmosphere of the mouth quickly decay, and start that eating away of the enamel which exposes the teeth to rotting. This is especially true of all forms of sugar."

"Coming back to the school children, Doctor what can we do for them?"

"There are not enough dentists to go around, therefore some other means must be sought. We can use women trained to clean the teeth thoroughly and properly, and to map out conditions which require the care of a dentist. One such woman can thoroughly clean, twice a year, the teeth of eight hundred children; her salary should be $100 per month. Where there are a number of small schools within fairly easy reach of each other, she can divide her time among them."

"The children must be taught how to keep their teeth clean and must be inspected daily to see that they are doing so. Those who require further attention should be referred to the dentist, and children too poor to pay should be sent to the school dentist, who should be given a fair salary for this type of trying and exhausting work."

"Where this has been done not only health but scholarship has shown an astonishing improvement."

"It is better for Pennsylvania that her coming citizens should have sound teeth, than that they should know how to extract cube root; also, it costs less, and is a proper charge against the school fund."

Ancient Idea of Comets.

Ancient peoples, puzzled by these awe-inspiring phenomena, proclaimed that "comets are composed of the sins of mortals, which, ascending to the sky, and so coming to the notice of God, are set on fire by his wrath." This interpretation of comets, though convenient for making people more religious, was not otherwise valuable. By 1650 A. D. a good deal was known about the laws governing them.

CAR SITUATION IS STILL A FEATURE

Report from Uniontown, Pa., that the coal situation says that car placements continue to be the feature of the fuel situation despite the fact that the supply sheered off slightly on Monday and Tuesday. Generally speaking, as many cars were placed as could be loaded. The most noticeable sheering off was on the Monongahela railroad.

Coal quotations are rather difficult to define, some sales it is said being made at $4, but generally $5 and $6 are mentioned. Quotations are variable and are the result of a chain of circumstances which may change from day to day. Apparently the key to the market situation now lies in the export coal business. While embargoes were on again Tuesday to Wednesday, there have been sufficient cars to ship during the past two weeks to add tone to the coal market. It is possible that coal permits may be issued for these shipments at any time or that embargoes may be lifted. There is a brisk demand for coal, coming largely from Italy, England and France in the order named. There are still a few South American shipments, a field which has been opened to American operators prior to the war.

Coal continues to go in large quantities to the Lakes and to the New England states, under orders Nos. 16 and 11. Observers in the region seem to sense a near supply in those districts, although there is a tendency to attribute the New England situation to New England shrewdness in securing priority in order to beat down the price of coal. Under priority the coal must be shipped and the operator or broker gets what the price is there, regardless of line shipment quotations.

FAYETTE CITY JUSTICE SEVERELY REPRIMANDED

Judge E. H. Reppert, in the Fayette county court on Wednesday, severely reprimanded Justice E. H. Johnson of Fayette City in the case of Clyde Sheets, charged with the breaking and entering the Hawker pool room and store at Fayette City. Martin Gardner and Carl Carlson were with Sheets at the time the crime was committed and they were charged with disorderly conduct before the magistrate. Judge Reppert asked for an explanation as to why the boys were treated differently when they were all three involved, and Squire Johnson stated that the case was not clear to him at the time and no one had preferred the charges against the other two boys. He remanded Sheets to jail until the time when all three should appear before him.

BIG APPLE CROP IS NOW INDICATED

Pennsylvania's apple crop will run over 13,180,000 bushels, according to a statement issued on Wednesday by the statistical bureau of the department of agriculture, based on reports from state crop reporters in every county, made as of August 1st. The 1919 crop was estimated at 7,614,000 bushels. The increase in prospects as compared with last year is general, and the yield will be closer to a full crop than for years. The August 1 estimates of the peach crop calls for 1,621,000 bushels against 514,000 for 1919. The pear estimate is given as 607,000 bushels against 200,000 in 1919.

10 APPEAL "JAKIE" CASES TO HIGHER COURT

Sentence in the "Jakie" cases recently tried in the Fayette county court was withheld by Judge E. H. Reppert on Wednesday until August 30, to allow counsel for the defendants time to arrange for bonds for appeals to the Superior Court. The counsel for the defendants sought to make one case an example, but the commonwealth objected. The court upholds the Brooks law and counsel for the defendants will appeal the findings on the grounds that the Fayette county court has no jurisdiction, it being a case for the Federal courts. Efforts will be made to have the cases tried as soon as possible after an appeal is taken.

Recommendations of Hotels, Hospitals, Railroad Companies and other public institutions are a guarantee to the public that the safest, quickest and most economical way of ridding the pesky insect is by the use of P. D. Q. as this chemical kills the eggs as well as the live ones, and will not injure the clothing. A 35c package makes a full quart, enough to kill a million bedbugs, roaches, fleas or cockroaches—and also contains a patent sprout to get the egg nests in the hard-to-get-at places and saves juice. They Don't Need Much Sugar

Old fashioned housewives canned by the open kettle method, and required a great deal of sugar to keep the fruit. When sugar was scarce or high they canned very little.

The scarcity of sugar this year is making little difference in canning. The cold pack method not only makes vegetable canning safe and advantageous, but it permits fruit canning to be done in a very light syrup. With our equipment, fruits may be safely canned without sugar.

We have all sizes Jars, Covers, Good Luck Jar Rings, Wrenches, Wax, Ladles, Funnels, Tops, Sieves and Strainers, Handy Jelly Bag or Strainer with table attachment; wood spoons, enamel, aluminum, tinned Basting Spoons, all sizes; Fruit Jar Racks, used in the wash boiler, Handy Fruit Jar Holders. Everything you will need for canning fruits and vegetables.
